Great job

 Rob McCrady
Good work

Looks amazing - color printing/copying will be more expensive but with small numbers I'm sure you won't go bakrupt ;-)

Write your paragraph reflection of learning within the course here:

I've learned many things about how to make comics from this course. The first thing was to think of creating or writing a comic as steps instead of as a whole. I really paid attention in the writing a comic script week since I've never really written one before. The other steps included thumbnails, pencils, and inking. The goal is to take your time, never rush. Draw or write when inspiration hits you because you'll never know when you'll be in the mood to draw or write a comic again.

About the inspiration part - I'm sure sometimes it needs a help in the form of commitment :-) All best for your future endeavours!

I'm not sure if your paper is standard American copy paper. I guess it is. I'm very happy you finish your final work! I can't tell if your work can be painted on mass because I'm not sure if you tried to clear up your paper in photoshop. The paper looks a bit dirty. But it's okay. It's more important for you to make your own first comic book! Congratulations!

Fun cover! I hope you had a good time doing this course as I did.

It has been great going through this process with you. Best of luck in the future!

 Ananieva Alina
The best comic on the course! Your drawings look very professional. You are good in expressing character emotions. Go on!

Before I got started on this course I had an inkling of an idea on what the comic book process was, but I didn't know if I had the confidence to get through it. I wasn't sure of my skill level or if I had what it took. And it turns out, with the feedback I received from my fellow students, I could see it through. I'm a hell of a lot more confident about what it is I can do, and I intend to create more. In essence, I should never doubt my ability, and I should charge headlong at my creative pursuits.

Thank you Patrick Yurick, and the team behind Making Comics, for this experience and I thank all of my fellow students for your support!

Write your paragraph reflection of learning within the course here: I have learned so much from this course; make a comic takes much work background, is not only having a good idea and draw it. Practice, practice and more practice, it implies all planning and dedication. You have to have a good idea, that is clear and concise, and develop it step by step. It has been an excellent course which took me long to put into practice, I still have a lot to work.	Reflection after posting final work demonstrates learning and change completed by the learner through the tenure of this course <input checked="" type="radio"/> 1 point Yes<input type="radio"/> 0 points No  Please provide kind, specific, and helpful feedback for the creator. I liked my job.

I wanted to become better and better.

I left my friends always early.

Don't leave

I badly wanted to be accepted.

More two years was spent like this.

Everyone was leaving except me.

I felt a loser.

I worked a lot,
was here always on time, overtime
and I didn't succeed.
I was in the same position as two years before.

I got really bored of it.

I realised I didn't have photos at all in that two past years.

clang
clang
clang

A lot of old friends of mine had families now.

Oh, really?

Wow!

hi
hi
hi

I felt myself as an old man!

nyyii

I just to play with others outside.

....and the precious solution just got in my head!

I must become the next best pop singer of all time!

End
